He took the first, 6 games to 3, the second set, 6-4, and the third seven games to five.

STRIKE IN RAND DISTRICT.

Gold Mining Industry of South Africa Threatened to be Tied Up.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, July 2.—A strike has broken out in the Rand district, which threatens to tie up the entire gold mining industry of South Africa. The dispute arose out of a simple question of working hours on the new Kleinfontein mines and from there gradually spread over the whole, until the situation became so serious that British troops were called out to protect property.

The original strikers were placated by the owners of the mines conceding their demands in regard to working hours, but then another dispute arose because the owners refused to dismiss men who had worked during the strike and to recognize the labor union. From this point the trouble spread until the situation has become grave. The leaders of the unions have called a general strike, and the men have promised to respond. The closing, also, of some coal mines has aggravated the situation and the railway employes threaten to walk out. The electricians, as well, appear inclined to shut down the power stations, which have therefore been occupied by the military.

HEAT RECORD BROKEN.

Ninety in the Shade the Worst of This or of Any Recent Season.

This takes the heat record of the season—of several seasons, in fact. The thermometer on some day in the dim, misty past may have traveled higher, but if it did the exact date is forgotten. Ninety was the high-water mark registered by the News thermometer, about 2 this afternoon, when for a few minutes the cooling breeze from the northwest took a nap and the mercury climbed. This was in the shade, and far from the hot pavements.

It started in well this morning with the mercury up to 78 at 7:30. This was close to the season's high mark of 80, June 17 last, But it did not stop at 78. It climbed, not steadily, but spasmodically. There was no breeze except a zephyr from south of west early. About 10 came a light breeze from the southwest. This changed to northwest about 1 and a fair wind helped cool things outdoors, where it could reach them The News thermometer reached 85 at 12:30 and topped the record with the 90 mark just about 2, dropping a few minutes later to 89, and then 88 Even the asphalt is melting in the streets.

SERMON BY REV. DR. PULLER.

At the anniversary services at the Shiloh Baptist Church Tuesday evening Rev. A. W. Puller, D. D., LL. D., pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, Boston, was the preacher. After brief remarks concerning his past and pleasant acquaintance with the pastor, Rev. Dr. Jeter, and also with Rev. Dr. T. W. Henderson, Dr. Puller announced as his subject "Conflicting Orders in the Battle of Life." He took for his text two words from the thirteenth and two from the fifteenth verses of the fourteenth chapter of Exodus: "Stand still", and "Go forward". The preacher closed with a tribute to the pastor for the work he has done at the Shiloh Church.

Rev. Frank Rector, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pawtucket and formerly of the Second Baptist Church of this city, will preach this evening.

THE LOUISIANA FLOODED.

Big Battleship in Danger of Sinking from Bursting of Injecting Valve.

Orders at First Given to Abandon Ship But Vessel Later Moved to Shoal Water.

While the audience was gathering at the beach this morning for the Navy Day celebration an appeal for assistance went out from battleship Louisiana, at anchor above Rose island. The wireless call was for tugs, but these did not pick up the message readily and it was not until there had been various appeals in the air that the Ontario and Sonoma were under way to the ship. In fact, before the tugs arrived the wireless told that the floor space in the engine room was flooded.

From details of the affair which have come ashore it appears that the main injecting valve to the main condensers burst and allowed a stream of water 22 inches in diameter to enter the ship. Such a volume is of serious proportions, and at once orders were given to prepare to abandon ship, as well as send for assistance, while efforts were made to haul a collision mat over the location on the intake and so stop the flow.

The boat derricks were set in action, and as rapidly as possible one boat after another was lowered into the water, and when the tugs came the ship was moved from her anchorage to shoaler water in Potter's Cove. The after compartments are reported as flooded, but while the tugs are standing by the danger of sinking has been relieved and she would not go far is she were to sink. The Louisiana is settling deep in the water, having filled her bunkers from the Cyclops with more than 1,700 tons of coal.

Just why and how the big pipe broke it is impossible to learn ashore, but the situation was considered a serious one, demanding that the ship be run so close to the beach that she would settle but little before she touched bottom. Her own pumps of course would not handle such a flood, and even the powerful pumps of the two tugs would not suffice, were it not for partially stopping the flow by outside application of the mat.

The ship was scheduled to sail at 8 o'clock Thursday morning for Bristol, or as near as possible, which really means off the shore at Bristol Ferry, since she had been detailed for Fourth of July duty there. It now looks as if Bristol would lose this part of her display and the ship would go to a navy yard instead. Sunday she was to leave for Vera Cruz, Mexico, and she had taken on boadr stores and supplies for this trip, but this will also be delayed. delayed.

What seems to have given way is what in ordinary steamboating is called the Kingston valve. It is not unusual to experience a leak here from corrosion, but on a big ship with such a large valve, and this well below the water line, the pressure is powerful and not easily stopped.

FOR VISITORS' OUTING.

Parents of Boys to be Entertained at Association Camp on the Fourth.

There will be a meeting at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association Thursday evening for the boys who are to visit the Association Camp on the Fourth of July. Mr. Stockwell is making plans to entertain a good number on that date and there is a general interest among the boys concerning this outing. Some of the mothers and fathers of the boys now in camp will go over to visit and spend a deightful timethrough the efforts of those in camp in planning for the visitors. This has been quite a feature in past years,and with a good dinner, an athetic meet and other features on attractive program is aranged. Mr. Stockwellwill be glad to have all interested in a good day's outing and in this camp go with the group, on the 8:50 Jamestown ferry from Newport, with enough for those who carry the unch and another also.

SALE OF KNOCKABOUT CARINA.

Mr. J. H. McIlvaine of Pittsburgh and Jamestown has purchased from Captain Walter Loring the 21-foot Knockabout Carina, formerly owned by Mr. Snowden Fahnestock. Mr. McIlvaine last year had the Taboo II and had her fitted out and ready to go into commission this season, when Tuesday he saw the Carina. He had contemplated securing a larger boat and decided right then to buy the one in sight. He has taken her, leaving the Taboo, ready to go into commission, on the brow at the shipyard. This is the second time the Taboo has been sold for a larger boat, Mr. Savery having sold her last spring to buy yawl Juanita.

THOUSANDS TURNED BACK BY THE INTENSE HEAT.

Veterans Visit Gettysburg Field, See Old Friends and Return.

Several Addresses Given During Military Day in the Large Tent.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.—Thousands of visitors turned back from Gettysburg today, and the armies of the Blue and the Gray began to melt away under the compelling influences of a torrid sun and the discomforts of camp life.

General Hunter Liggitt, U. S. A., in command of the camp, estimated that more than 4,000 veterans have gone, and expressed the opinion that 1,000 might depart before midnight. Most of them have looked over the battlefield, shaken hands with comrades they knew in other days, got another glimpse of their friends, the "rebs," and left for home. The regular army men were not sorry to see the thousands go, for the camp was crowded beyond capacity and hundreds, o fold men were being quartered in tents that were ill adapted for the purpose. Scores slept on the ground and, although the cooks made strenuous efforts, the mess tables did not groan with food.

All indications pointed to another hot day. The sun was not over the hills an hour until the mercury was around the 90 mark, and promised to go much higheer. The veterans have stood the heat remarkably well in the opinion of the medical men, but there is a limit to their endurance.

"This was "Military day" in the big tent, with Colonel Andrew Gowan of Louisville presiding. Major General John R. Brooke of Pennsylvania was the northern orator of the day and Sergeant John C. Scarborough of North Carolina spoke for the South. To Barry Bulkley of Washington, D. C., was given the hono r of reading Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

List of Those Assessed for Large Amounts of This Year's Taxes.

Many Changes, Well Known Names Dropping Out and New Ones Appearing.

As for years past, the Daily News prints today the list of those taxpayers who this year are assessed on $25,000 or more for 1913. As last year, there are two different rates. For real estate and tangible personal property the tax rate is $12.80 per $1,000; for intangible personal property, stocks and bonds and investments the rate is $4 per $1,000. This is the old way of speaking; since the new intangible tax rate has come in, however, it has become rather the rule to speak of the rate per $100, which makes it read $1.28 for real and tangible personal, and 40 cents for intangible.

The valuation and tax rate for this year and last show some material changes in many ways. To crowd the figures in the columns it is necessary to make some abbreviations, as follows: 1, real estate and tangible property; 2, intangible personal; 3, total property taxed; 4, property exempt from taxation; 5, total of all property taxed and untaxed.

	1913, Rate $12.80. Valuation.	Tax.
1	$41,802,600	$535,073.28
2	21,541,800	86,167.20
3	63,344,400	621,240.48
4	3,429,200
5	66,773,600
	1912, Rate $14.60.
1	$41,619,500	$568,025.20
2	11,777,500	47,110.00
3	53,297,000	613,135.20
4	2,828,400
5	56,225,400
	Increases.
1	$183,100	*$30,951.92
2	9,764,300	69,057.20
3	9,947,400	8,105.28
4	600,800
5	10,548,200

*Decrease.

The increase in real and tangible valuation is $183,100 and the decrease in the tax on this class of property $30,951.92; the increase in intangible valuation is $9,764,300 and the increase in tax on this class of property $39,057.20; the increase in valuation of all classes of taxable property is $9,947,200 and the increase in the tax $8,105.20; the increase in property not taxable is $600,800 and the increase in all sorts of property—real, tangible, intangible and untaxable—is $10,548,200.

There are certain drawbacks about this increase, for the state calls for a tax of 9 cents on each $100 of taxable property and this will mean an increase in the state tax over last year of $8,952.60. The total increase in taxes is but $8,105.28, so that the net loss of revenue will be $847.38. The state taxes the same on tangible and intangible, and while the cities and towns are allowed to collect but 40 cents on each $100 of such property the state claims just as much on it as on the other classes, which brings in more than three times as much revenue to the city. There was a demand that the assessors increase the intangible assessment and reduce if possible that on real estate, and this they have done. It remains to be seen just how it will work out. In the case under consideration, the state tax, it works out badly.

While there are many changes in the list, additions chiefly, there are not many in the ownership of real estate worth $25,000 or more. The new names are largely from increases in personal assessment rather than of real estate values. The new names appearing are as follows: H. C. Anthony, increase, completion of his building; Dorothy Bateman, intangible personal; J. W. Burgess, purchase from Barnard College, the E. O. Gibbes estate; L. M. L. Gorry and Elsie W. Goelet, intangible personal; Mary H. Horgan and estate M. N. Bull, transfer from M. Bull estate; T. A. Lawton et al., transfer from Alfred Smith heirs; Edith Edgar McCagg, transfer from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Rogers estate; F. W. Matteson et al., two accounts, transfers from W. W. Sherman et al.; John Neilson, transfer from Jessie L.; F. H. Paine from G. T. Gray; George L. Peabody, transfer from W. F. Weld estate; Alice B. Pell, transfer from C. S. Bates heirs; Providence, Fall River & Newport Steamboat Company, transfer from Mary R. Derby; R. Manson Smith, transfer from Addison Thomas estate.

Other new names, due in most cases to increase of personal valuation, are W. A. Armstrong, Amory Austin, Harriet W. Benson, Elizabeth Betton, Alexander Booth, William Brewster, W. F. Caswell, trustee; F. E. Chadwick, F. B. Cudworth, J. H. and U. S. Denniston, Thomas Dunn, Benjamin Easton, G. R. Edds estate, William Ennis, Mrs. Blair Fairchild, Mary L. Goddard, Ellen S. Heard, Mrs. Joseph Howland, Margaret Huntington, F. R. King, G. G. King, trustee; Lemoy King, King-McLeod Company, Rowland King, K. B. Lorillard et al., L. B. McCagg, trustee, F. P. Mitchell, L. G. Morris, H. J. Nelson, John Nelson, New England Steamship Company, Newport & Providence Street Railway Company, T. W. Phinney heirs, W. F. Price, executor, W. T. Richards estate; Julia Sands, executrix Elizabeth H. Swinburne, trustee; W. H. Tibbetts, Martha H. Stedman, Albert Sterner and Joseph H. Willard.

Some names have been dropped, some of them well known. Among these are William Andrews, Arctic Ice Co., both reduced by division; Barnard College, transferred to J. W. Burgess; Charles S. Bates heirs, an old-timer transferred to Alice B. Pell; City of Boston, transferred to Mrs. Herman Oelrichs; J. Stacy Brown, reduced; M. Bull heirs et al., transferred to M. H. Horgan et al.; Charlotte Cushman heirs, another old-timer, transferred to Bishop Darlington and reduced in valuation below the $25,000 mark; Grace T. Gray, transferred to F. H. Paine and reduced in valuation more than one half; George D. Haskell, Bruen estate sold in parcels; R. L. Kennedy, a name on the tax books for more than 40 years, property divided; Florence Lehman, consolidated with estate of Annie Lyman; Massachusetts Institute of Technology, transferred to Mrs. McCagg; Jessie Neilson, transferred to John Neilson; Richmond heirs, an old-timer, successor to the Ruggles, land about all sold; S. F. Weld, another old-timer, sold to G. L. Peabody; Henry and Margaret S. R. White, both changed their citizenship; W. W. Sherman, trustee, changed to Matteson; Alfred Smith heirs, another old-timer, perhaps the best known of all, changed to T. A. Lawton et al.

The assessors were up against quite a problem to reduce the tax rate and yet realize more money than last year. To begin with, there was a falling off of something like $625,000 in valuation of the class of property which brings in revenue. The King park meant a loss of about $105,000, the tearing down of the Widener house a loss of about $50,000, the tearing down of the old Parkman house, bought by Mrs. Oelrichs, a loss of about $13,500; there was a loss of about $27,000 on the Gray house and of about $30,000 in the Bruen estate when finally divided into lots.

Yet the total valuation this year shows an increase of $183,100 over last on this kind of property. Taking into consideration the loss of the $625,000, this means a real increase in valuation of this class of $808,100. Some of this was made up of property which had escaped taxation for years. Just as many had claimed, there was taxable property around town which was not paying taxes and had not been paying taxes on the improvements. The newly discovered houses were all erected before the building inspector went into office, and he has kept track of them since.

It is expected that another year the permanent assessor will find still more of this property which has been escaping taxes so long. He has made a start on the work and there seems to be some system to it now, and with more frequent meetings of the assessors through the year it is hoped to have a better assessment and to do the work in much less time. This year the assessors were in session 13 weeks. They did a great deal of work in that time, and considerable of it should have been done years before by former boards of assessors.

In the following list the figures alone or on top where there are two following a name are for real estate or tangible personal property or both. When there is a second amount preceded by a * it is for intangible personal property, stocks, investments, etc. The total amount of tax for both tangible and intangible is given after the second tax amount.

A White Gown.

This dress is of sheer white cotton voile and macrime lace worn over a slip of white batiste.

In buying a suit there are three things to consider:

The Style; the Fit; the Value.

You can tell something about the first two, but you've only the merchant's word for the last—how do you know that a suit priced $20 is just as good value, dollar for dollar, as one priced $33, or vice-versa?

You do know, though, my reputation for honest selling—a reputation that I've been proud to keep in the many years that I have been in business in Newport.

You know, too, the character of the clothing I have in stock—the fine Rogers Peet clothing that sets the standard in New York.

You can be sure of the value here.

Open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

PAID UNDER PROTEST.

Plaintiff Claims That She Was Illegally Assessed and Over-taxed.

Suit of Mrs. Mary B. Caswell of New York Against Jamestown Town Treasurer.

Judge Sterns took up business again in the superior court Tuesday afternoon. The case of Mary B. Caswell of New York against Edwin G. Knowles, town treasurer of Jamestown, was put upon trial, Judge Burke appearing for plaintiff and Mr. Levy for defendant.

The following jurors were called: Herbert Vial, Abram F. Hardy, George M. Lovett, Eugene Reagan, Arthur J. Leary, Newport; Zenon St. Laurent, Tiverton; Frederick B. Nason, Joseph Nichols, Newport; Theodore J. Taber, Little Compton; Charles H. Borden, Portsmouth; Dennis Whitty, Newport; Burton E. Dodge, New Shoreham. Mr. Reagan was challenged and John Charles Cook of Tiverton completed the panel. Mr. Borden was appointed foreman.

The declaration alleges that plaintiff was illegally assessed and also was over-taxed. She sues to recover $500 taxes, paid under protest.

William H. Severance, town clerk, was sworn and produced the original tax roll for 1912. It shows only "land, Bryer farm, Mary B. Caswell, $50,000, tax $500." It is marked with a star indicating that she filed a statement of her property. The return made by Mrs. Caswell being produced was put in evidence, also her claim, which was presented to the town council, referred to the assessors, and no action has been taken looking towards any payment to Mrs. Caswell.

Mrs. Caswell's statement has a plat annexed and gives a value for each plot of the many shown on it. The area and boundaries of each lot are given, showing 6,769,120, valued at $27,558.95, and roads of sufficient value to make the total $28,000. The statement is sworn to before the tax assessors. The claim of Mrs. Caswell, to be re-imbursed for the tax paid under protest, was read.

Judge Burke was then sworn and testified that February 6, 1913, he, as attorney for plaintiff, called on Tax Collector Stubbs and left with him a check for $500 and a letter protesting that the land was excessively taxed and the assessment illegal and void, as many parcels are included in the one figure and they are not separately assessed as required by law. She does not own all of "Bryer farm," but only separate parcels of it. She also, in the latter, gives notice of her intention to take legal measures. Her paid check was also put in evidence. There was also the tax collector's receipt, bearing the endorsement that the $500 tax was paid under written protest, February 6, 1913.

Thomas Carr Watson took the stand. He was the chairman of the board of assessors and September 20, 1912, Mrs. Caswell appeared before the assessors and swore to her statement of property before witness. Witness was asked to point out on the plat which lots he owns; he showed one, where he lives, on Canonicus avenue, containing 22,000 feet. Bryer avenue and Bay View drive are public highways. Judge Burke claimed the evidence was sufficient to show the plat correct. Witness said he has been an assessor 40 years and the plat is correct as far as he noticed. Asked why Mrs. Caswell's lots were not separately assessed Mr. Watson said the assessment had always been in bulk. From the plat they saw she owned about 40 acres.

Judge Burke asked about the assessment in 1911. Mr. Levy objected. The court said the valuation of the assessors is the valuation of the town. Exception overruled. Witness said he didn't remember. There was an increase. What was the occasion for the increase? Witness said there is a demand for land there the past two years, making it of more cash value. Asked if other lots were taxed for more, there was objection and the question was ruled out.

Mr. Levy asked if the "separate lots" are indicated in any way on the land. Mr. Watson said there are no walls, fences or stubs. The "roads" are merely driftways. Witness has known the Bryer farm 40 years. They bought it in 1871. Then it was bounded north on the Clarke farm, east by the bay, south by Shoreby Hill; west by the Greene farm, etc. The unsold portion has always been assessed as the Bryer farm. He never has seen any such plat as this on record in the town clerk's office. Remembers no plat of the farm there. In 1912 they assessed the unsold portion of the farm.

Counsel had a battle as to the question if it was practicable to assess the property in separate lots. The court said he was willing to admit anything which would throw light on the case, but if counsel desired to be very technical he must make technical rulings; he should do what he could to prevent a mis-trial. Judge Burke argued that the jury must determine whether it was practicable to assess in separate lots. A short recess was taken.

The case of Ann S. Pendleberry et al. vs. Isaac Brown, town treasurer, the only other left for trial, which could hardly be finished this week, was continued, and set to follow the cases already assigned for the October session.

The court sustained Judge Burke's contention as to the jury deciding whether it was practicable to assess plaintiff's land by separate lots. Witness lives at about the centre of the Bryer land. Mr. Levy asked as to the value of witness's land there 20 years ago. Judge Burke objected and another legal tangle resulted.

Judge Burke asked Mr. Watson if each of the streets on this plat is not marked by a sign at the end of it. He said there are signs on some of them. Witness said there are, on this plat, seven houses on Bay View drive, and others on Canonicus avenue, on Bryer avenue, etc. There are 40 in all, including the Dr. Bates sanitarium. Witness said he knew there are streets laid out, but they had no plat at the town hall. The other 40 owners are assessed separately. One of Mrs. Caswell's lots is bounded all around by other owners. Another, a big lot, is bounded by Bullum, the bay, a public highway, etc.

The court said the reason for the assessors assessing the land as a whole should be asked.

Judge Burke asked if witness did not assess himself separately, and also 41 owners on this plat. He said "Yes." Why could not Mrs. Caswell be assessed in the same way? Amos L. Peckham, another assessor, is separately assessed for property on this plat. Witness said there is no way to designate the different lots of the Caswell land. There are deeds in the town clerk's office showing the bounds of the other lots. Witness admitted that he never looked up the deeds of the 42 owners on the Bryer plat.

Judge Burke offered the deposition of Mrs. Caswell. Mr. Levy objected. He had been refused permission to open this deposition, and claims it was not taken by a disinterested person. He says it does not contain all the questions and answers, and exceptions he made are not noted. The danger is that questions were asked and witness was improperly assisted to answer and to use the deposition, in place of the oral evidence of plaintiff, now in court, is unfair. It is contended that there is serious objection to the deposition. Mr. Levy protested, again and again, as to the conduct of the New York attorney, at the taking of the deposition.

Judge Burke replied that these objections come too late. Mr. Levy was present at the taking of the depositions.

The court said it is within the discretion of the court to allow the deposition to be used. Counsel both talked at once, and the court said: "One moment. I'm going to look up what the law is on depositions, with your permission." There was silence. The court then read the law, that the court could order oral testimony.

Judge Burke hastened to ask to be heard before the court made a ruling. He said that Mr. Levy by cross-examining the witness at the five-hour taking of the deposition in New York waived his objections. Judge Burke warmly protested that the deposition is as good as any that ever came out, and that there were so many objections made in New York that it is a wonder the stenographer was able to take it down. Mrs. Caswell is very deaf. She would take the stand on any necessary questions.

Mr. Levy insisted on his objections. The court asked why he did not withdraw from the taking of the deposition. Mr. Levy said the notice was very short and as the hearing progressed the interest of the master became more and more evident.

The court said he could not take these statements from counsel. He ruled that the deposition might be used and if necessary Mrs. Caswell would be called.

At 4:41 the court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. Wednesday.

WHEN JOHNNY COMES MARCHING HOME.

When Johnny comes marching home again,
Hurrah, hurrah!
We'll give him a hearty welcome then,
Hurrah, hurrah!
The men will cheer, the boys will shout,
The ladies they will all turn out.
Chorus.
And we'll all feel gay when Johnny comes marching home.

The old church bell will peal with joy,
Hurrah, hurrah!
To welcome home our darling boy,
Hurrah, hurrah!
The village lads and lassies say
With roses they will strew the way.
Chorus.

Get ready for the jubilee,
Hurrah, hurrah!
We'll give the hero three times three,
Hurrah, hurrah!
The laurel wreath is ready now
To place upon his loyal brow.
Chorus.

Let love and friendship on that day,
Hurrah, hurrah!
Their choicest treasures then display,
Hurrah, hurrah!
And let each one perform some part
To fill with joy the warrior's heart.
Chorus.

GETTYSBURG.

[H. Percival Allen, in Lippincott's.]

Sleep, peaceful hills! Thy crimson sun shall set
No more upon the faces of the dead;
Thy growing fields shall raise their golden grain
Untrampled by the feet of life and death,
Sleep, for the cry from tight-pressed, suffering lips
Is hushed forever, and the hearts that bled
Have underneath thy flowers gone to rest.

Sleep wrapped in peace, no more shall passion climb
In desecration up thy bleeding sides,
Nor hatred look defiance in the eyes;
For 'neath the quiet of thy summer sky
Those hearts that longed for peace, yet fought so well,
Lie dreaming past the bitterness of death.

Yea, sleep,—through all the anguish and the strife,
The spirit was the same that made them great;
Lo, now they rest, unblamed, as friend and foe,
Beneath thy wounded fields where shadows creep,
While o'er those armies silent, rank and file,
Thy evening skies their sundered stars unite.

FANCIES.

When the steed had nobly sped him,
And the stableman had fed him;
To the drinking trough he led him,
But he coaxed in no avail;
For the horse replied with hauteur,
"You may lead me to the water,
But to make me drink, you'd oughter
Have an individual pail."

INDIVIDUAL AND CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY.

In the investigation of the Stamford wreck the coroner is trying to determine individual responsibility. To that end he asked several of the officials regarding their duties, and under direction of counsel they evaded or declined to answer. One of them was asked point blank if he declined to answer because a reply would tend to incriminate him, and replied that it might incriminate him and others. Of course he has no right to refuse to answer because it might incriminate others, and his right to refuse an answer which would tend to incriminate himself can hardly be stretched so far as to justify him in refusing to tell what his duties are and what authority he possesses under the corporation. One would suppose that a railroad official could not escape telling a coroner with what part of the railroad company's business he was charged on the plea that the answer would tend to incriminate him.

As between corporate and individual responsibility, the public has grown rather weary of the former and is increasingly demanding more of the latter. It was while governor of New Jersey that President Wilson said "guilt is personal," and the public feels that that is true. Whatever the corporation did was done by some individual, and if he was not responsible it was because he acted under the orders of some other individual. So long as the penalty will be visited only on the corporation the individual official is comparatively indifferent, but if the penalty may fall upon himself his attitude toward the matter will be radically different.

There is a strong conviction that there is no such thing as bringing the law to bear upon corporations. The only practicable penalty would be a fine, and that is relatively a small matter except in the case of Judge Landis's fine on the Standard Oil, which was so far beyond any rational limits that it was regarded as a joke and in due time was set aside by a higher court. When the breaking of the law or the neglect of duty or the shirking of responsibility can be fastened on an individual some attention will be paid to the law and the duty to the public.

THE DIET IN SUMMER.

This is the season of the year when great care should be exercised regarding the diet. Physicians urge this and the experience of the average person enforces that advice, and yet there seem to be comparatively few who make any considerable change in this matter in hot weather. The unwisdom of such a course ought to be patent to every one at all familiar with the effects of over-eating and the result of indulgence in certain kinds of food on hot days but man is a heedless creature, who thinks much of his pleasure and is not very fond of denying himself. The result is that most persons in hot weather eat too much and are not discriminating as to the kind of food they consume.

Except for the presence of seasonable vegetables and fruits in larger or smaller quantities, according to the tastes of the family, the dinner and breakfast table in the average home does not present a greatly different appearance in summer and in winter. The character of the main dishes is much the same and there seems to be little attention to the demands of nature in hot weather, or the injury to health which over-indulgence and unwise indulgence in heavy foods at this season is almost certain to cause. The fact that from day to day and from meal to meal a person does not feel any special discomfort from a winter diet in summer leads to the belief in many that there is no reason for a change. By the time the hot weather is over, however, or even long before that, there is likely to be experienced a condition which has resulted from the failure to adapt the diet to the season and it may require weeks to restore the victim to the original state of health. It is amazing to note the kind of food some people allow themselves to eat when the mercury is soaring and the system needs but little, and demands that that little shall be of the most nourishing and simple sort. Such recklessness can be witnessed any day in summer in public eating places.

There is an economical aspect to this matter also, for the summer is the natural time to economize and seek to cut down the high cost of living. In winter the appetite and the system demand heavy foods, much meat and rich viands, and indulgence in them is a duty and a necessity; in summer the body does not need so much food of that kind, but craves articles of a lighter and simpler sort. Then is the time to use freely vegetables, fish, fruits and cooling dishes which will keep the blood at normal heat, and not give the digestive system too much to do when the mercury is high and exertion is a burden. Such a diet, if wisely chosen, will be found less expensive, and thus the cost of living may be materially reduced in hot weather, so that the total for the year may not be as appalling as some find it under present conditions. This can be done without harm to the health, but rather with distinct improvement and great benefit.

Incidentally something of the same advice could be given regarding the planning of meals at any season of the year. Comparatively few persons, even in these days of scientific cooking and school cooking classes, seem to know how to plan a meal so that it will be well proportioned. Too often a hearty dinner is ended with a heavy dessert or the opposite is the case, so that the result is not as good as though there had been more careful attention to the different ingredients used. The result of this lack of care in this respect is felt, too, in the pocket book, for often a meal is made too heavy at unnecessary expense, whereas if it had been well planned it would have cost less and been more wholesome, satisfying and nourishing There do not seem to be many persons who realize that over-eating is worse for the system than not eating enough, a lesson which ought to be learned more generally.

THE RURAL SLUMS.

We have heard quite as much as is necessary about the slums of the city; in fact, there is a tendency to enlarge and romance about them which must be carefully resisted. Occasionally we learn something of the slums of the country.

There is a part of the mountain region of the South remote from the rest of the world, almost devoid of churches and schoolhouses, where primitive conditions prevail, but they are not generally such as imply moral degradation. The lawlessness is mostly an employment of force instead of law. A Southern novelist several years ago gave the public a little glimpse of moral degradation in a population living in the pine barrens of the Carolinas, and more recently a social worker has let in the light on conditions of extraordinary debasement and immorality in the population of the pineries of New Jersey, within a few miles of the greatest city on the continent. Governor Fielder would not take his information at second hand, but has visited the pine regions and declared conditions to be horrible and fully as bad as had been represented.

Why the pine barrens again? Not because they are pine, but because they are barren. The population is poverty-stricken in both these localities, and poverty tends to discouragement and hopelessness and to blunt all the finer sensibilities, reaching morals ultimately. In both localities the degraded population was by its location in great measure separated from the rest of the community. It was isolated from villages, off main lines of travel, little seen by strangers, and the younger and more promising members of the community were not drafted off into the larger activities of the world. So these people in a Northern and in a Southern pine barren, poor, isolated and ignorant, without much moral sense or moral purpose, have created a problem difficult to handle and probably not possible of immediate correction. There are probably other states with rural slums, and it is about time they were discovering them and doing something for them before they are worse.

The Senate Democrats having now reconsidered the vote on the section of the tariff bill exempting insurance companies from the income tax, the exemption will stand. As finally agreed upon, the section provides that mutual insurance companies shall not be obliged to return as a part of their income any portion of premium deposits actually returned to their policy holders within the year for which the income tax return is made, or any portion accredited to policy holders in the form of deductions from the amount of premiums due.

The Progressive managers of the Naval Day demonstration in Newport must be keenly disappointed by the lack of numbers which they evidently expected to be present. Instead of throngs coming from afar by rail and by boat, not an extra train or car or boat has put in an appearance, and our own people have failed to respond to the degree one would naturally expect. The situation is one which will at least cause deep thinking in the Progressive party.

Drinking and smoking during the past year brought to the United States government the enormous sum of $309,478,000 in internal revenue receipts, a total greater by $16,500,000 than was received from those sources in the previous year and one of the largest amounts on record. It paid nearly half the government expenses.

St. Louis has dammed the Mississippi river and is generating by water power all the electricity used for lighting, street car traffic and industrial motors. The electric current is carried 137 miles from the dam to the city.

President Wilson, who is off on a three days' outing in the Mayflower, has thrown aside all official duties and even the White House officials do not know his whereabouts. He has had a busy four months in the President's chair and deserves a little rest, free from official cares.

The United States closed its fiscal year Monday night with a surplus of $40,083,229, representing the excess of receipts over expenditures. This is exclusive of the Panama canal and public debt transactions, which wipe out the surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures and create a deficit for the year of $2,449,000.

It is difficult for even an aviator to hold popular favor against the women. An airman crossed Lake Michigan, making as pretty a landing at Chicago as one could wish to see, but was almost unnoticed while 50,000 persons watched a suffrage parade in the streets. How are the mighty fallen!

A WHOOPING COUGH CURE.

Director of Pasteur Institute Reports a Possible Treatment.

The possibility of the discovery in the near future of a cure for whooping cough is held out at the Academy of Sciences in Paris by Dr. Emile Roux, director of the Pasteur Institute, and a member of the academy of medicine. Dr. Roux is merely transmitting the report of Dr. Alfred Conor, bacteriologist of the Belvere Military Hospital, Tunis, where with the collaboration of Dr. Nicolle he prepared a solution containing living whooping cough bacilli which they injected into 122 children suffering frim the disease, repeating it at intervals of two days. Thirty-seven per cent of the children recovered in less than three weeks, whereas under ordinary treatment the mildest attacks lasted two and some times five or six months.

A FOOLISH PHRASE.

[Springfield Republican.]

Is it not time for a concerted effort to get rid of the highly objectionable phrase "white slave"? If it ever served a useful purpose, which is doubtful, its value has been destroyed by gross misuse, and it should be thrown out into the gutter from which it came. Even in the original sense it is a bad and misleading term—what has "white" to do with the case? The crime is equally abominable whatever the race of the victim, and the adjective serves no purpose except to heat imagination and pervert judgment. The result has been a grotesque misuse of language and misrepresentation of facts. On the one side women whose badness is wholly voluntary have made haste to pose as "white slaves" thus taking advantage of a wave of popular sympathy. On the other hand, cases which have no relation whatever to white slavery are given a sensational importance by no means wholesome to public morals. Reform needs sober thinking, cool judgment, a sense of proportion, all which are compromised by a loose and rhetorical use of words. We have words in English to describe, when necessary, the various offenses which are thus absurdly lumped in one overused bit of slang, and a little precision in language would wonderfully clear the air.

HENRI ROCHEFORT.

[Boston Transcript.]

Henri Rochefort, who has just died, was one of the most brilliant men of his time, and his time passed when the French republic steadied itself after the conclusion of the Dreyfus incident. Like many other French public men, he was a little of everything in intellectual activities. He might have been a marquis, for he was born to a title, but he preferred to be a democrat of the demogogic variety; he might have been a physician, but he preferred to be a dramatist; he might have been a dramatist, but he preferred to be a journalist. He was so bountifully gifted with abilities that he might have been one of the most useful of its citizens to France, but he preferred to be "against the government" during a public career of almost half a century. The titles of the newspapers he founded, "La Lanterne," "La Marseillaise," "L'Intransigeant," tell his character and career with a sufficiency an encyclopaedia could not surpass. He was always in troubles, most of which he sought.

SEVERAL NEWPORT MEN IN LIST.

Fourteen Naval Officers "Plucked" and Ten Retired Voluntarily.

Each Informed Personally by Telegraph Before the Names Were Made Public.

Twenty-four naval officers were placed on the retired list Tuesday afternoon by the board of rear admirals, under the personnel law; 10 retired voluntarily and 14 were "plucked." Those selected by the board for compulsory retirement are:

Captain Templin M. Potts, formerly aide for personnel, now commanding battleship Louisiana.

Captain Washington I. Chambers, on special duty in the Navy Department, in charge of the navy aviation corps.

Captain John G. Quinby, commanding the training station at Norfolk.

Captain John M. Ellicott, commanding armored cruiser Maryland.

Captain Chester M. Knepper, at the Naval War College, Newport.

Commander Clarence M. Stone, on special duty in the Navy Department, in charge of militia affairs.

Commander Albert L. Norton, on duty in the bureau of ordinance, Navy Department.

Commander Arthur B. Hoff, on duty at the Naval Academy, Annapolis.

Commander George G. Mitchell, commanding gunboat Paducah.

Lieutenant Commander John L. Sticht, Naval War College, Newport.

Lieutenant Commander Richard S. Douglas, commanding the Glacier.

Lieutenant Commander Charles P. Burt, inspector of ordnance, Newport News, Va.

Lieutenant Commander Charles T. Wade, on leave of absence.

Lieutenant Edison E. Scranton, executive officer of battleship Oregon.

The officers who retired voluntarily were:

Captain Charles C. Marsh, on special duty at the Washington navy yard.

Commander Archibald H. Davis, member of the board of inspection and survey for ships.

Commander Henry C. Kuenzli, inspection officer, Puget Sound navy yard.

Commander Frederick L. Sawyer, inspector of ordnance, at Brooklyn.

Commander Leon S. Thompson, on sick leave at Newport.

Commander Benjamin B. McCormick, executive officer of armored cruiser Maryland.

Commander David V. H. Allen, on duty on board armored cruiser South Dakota.

Commander Eugene L. Bisacti, executive officer of armored cruiser Pittsburg.

Commander John S. Doddridge, in charge of recruiting station at New Orleans, La.

Commander Allen M. Cook, executive officer of battleship Idaho.

An interesting legal question will arise through the action of the board in "plucking" Captain Potts, who was formerly on duty in the Navy Department. He is the senior captain and was due for promotion to the grade of rear admiral March 26 last, but his promotion was held up by direction of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who ordered that every officer must have an adequate amount of sea service in every grade as a requisite for promotion.

Captain Potts was relieved of duty as aide for personnel, and assigned to the command of battleship Louisiana to obtain the proper amount of sea duty. He has had only 10 months sea duty in his present grade. In view of the postponement of his promotion he remained in the captain's grade and was subject to the jurisdiction of the "plucking" board. Had he obtained his promotion at the date when the vacancy occurred he would now be a rear admiral, and as such would be beyond the reach of the board.

Captain Chambers is another officer who has had little sea service, having had only six months sea duty since he became a captain, December 17, 1908.

Captain Quinby was recently engaged in a controversy with Rear Admiral Robert M. Doyle, commandant of the navy yard at Norfolk. Captain Quinby objected to a statement made by Rear Admiral Doyle in a report and asked for a court of inquiry, which investigated the case. A charge of inebriety against Captain Quinby was not substantiated and was stricken from the record. Secretary Daniels last week disposed of the case by sending letters of admonition to both officers involved in the controversy.

In years past officers retiring under the personnel law were given an advance in grade. Congress, however, passed an amendment last year to the act, providing that such retirements be made in the grade which the officers are at the time of their retirement. This is the first year that officers have not received the advance in grade.

There were several other applications for voluntary retirement under the law. As the acceptance of these is at the discretion of the President, the recent order requiring 20 years active service as a requisite for voluntary retirement was enforced.

Late Tuesday Secretary Daniels issued this statement:

"The most unpleasant duty of the year was performed today at the Navy Department, when the board of selection for retirement made its report to Secretary Daniels. Secretary Daniels took the report to the White House for approval of the President, who remarked that it was a duty that effected him very gravely. Mr. Daniels replied that the law governing the action of the Board was like that of the Medes and Persians, which could not be changed. After the President affixed his signature to the report the Secretary notified each officer by telegram of the action of the Board in his case so that he might be informed before the general public would have the information from the press."

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, July 2.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Local showers tonight or Thursday; cooler, moderate, northerly winds.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Forecast for southern New England—Showers tonight or Thursday; cooler; moderate, northerly winds.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Forecast for northern New England—Showers tonight or Thursday; cooler tonight; cooler Thursday in Maine; moderate, northwesterly to northerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The hot wave continued of great severity in the Ohio valley, Michigan and along the Atlantic slope, with 8 a. m. temperatures above the 80 degrees at many stations near the coast. It is cooler in western New York and the lower Lake region, where showers are reported at several stations. There have been showers at scattered stations in the Ohio valley, Plains states, and on the northeastern slope of the Rockies during the past 24 hours. The heaviest amount reported was 2. at St. Louis. Fair weather prevails, with generally clear skies and normal temperatures in the Southwest and the Far West South of Montana and the Dakotas. A barometeric depression is central in the vicinity of Halifax, Nova Scotia, 29.5 inches, while normal pressure obtains in other districts east of the Mississippi river. The showery conditions prevailing in the lower Lake region this morning will probably reach this vicinity this evening, bringing some relief from the hot wave. In New York at 8 a. m. the temperature was 82, Boston 86, Washington 82, Jacksonville 80, New Orleans 76, St. Louis 74, Chicago 76, St. Paul 64, Denver 64 and San Francisco 54. The highest reported in the east during yesterday was at Portland, Maine, 102 degrees, while the maximum was between 94 and 100 degrees at most stations on the Atlantic slope, except in eastern and northern Maine and in eastern Canada.

AN ORDINANCE in amendment of an ordinance granting to the Newport and Fall River Street Railway Company permission to locate railroad tracks to be used for cars in certain streets in the City of Newport, in addition to its existing location in said streets, heretofore granted.

It is ordained by the Representative Council of the City of Newport as follows:—

Section 1. In addition to the location heretofore granted by An Ordinance granting to the Newport Horse Railroad permission to locate railroad tracks to be used with passenger cars in certain streets in said City of Newport, and of the ordinance in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, permission is hereby granted to the said Newport and Fall River Street Railway Company to locate and extend its railroad tracks with suitable poles, fixtures and appurtenances in connection with its electric system of motor power, to be used as authorized by law, in the following street and highway of Newport, viz: On Bath Road from the location of its present switch or turnout on Bath Road between Peabody Street and Middleton Avenue, to extend a double line of tracks with suitable poles, wires and appurtenances, easterly along the southerly side of said Bath Road and within two feet of the curb stone, to Easton's Beach, said double tracks to take the place of the present turnouts or switches on Bath Road near Freebody Street and near Cliff Avenue, according to plans now on file in the office of the City Clerk.

Section 2. The permission hereby granted is subject to the terms and conditions in said ordinances and this ordinance in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, still in force, affecting the present location of said railroad; and the said railroad shall, within sixty days after the passage of this ordinance, accept the same and shall within said time, file the said acceptance with the City Clerk, otherwise this ordinance shall be null and void.

Mrs. Caswell's Deposition in Jamestown Tax Case Cause of Much Complication.

The case of Caswell vs. Town Treasurer of Jamestown proceeded in the superior court this morning, Judge Stearns taking his seat at 9:36. Spare jurors were discharged and paid.

Judge Burke read the deposition of Mrs. Caswell, taken in New York June 29, 1912. She received notice of the assessment of the tax, by reading an advertisement in a paper. She appeared before the assessors and rendered an account of her property, under oath. A plat of her property, made May 9, 1912, by J. P. Cotton, was annexed to her statement. The plat was a blue print copy of the original. It shows all her property in Jamestown. All lots not bearing the name of an owner are hers. Each lot is described.

Referring to the town reports, deponent found the property assessed against her to be valued at $50,000. Her return had shown a valuation of $20,000. She wrote a protest to the tax assessors, and paid the tax under protest, instructing her attorneys to present her letter and pay the tax under protest.

Some of the deposition was stricken out; to some Mr. Levy withdrew his objection, though he still claimed the deposition was improperly taken.

Deponent paid by check and then made claim for re-imbursement of the $500 from the town council. The town has not repaid her. She owned 13 or 14 parcels of real estate and rights in the beach. One parcel on Bay View drive is completely separated from all her other property. The same is true of another on the same drive, fronting on the bay, containing 181,860 square feet, bounded north on John M. Whital, and by J. S. Buffum on the south. The plat and deponent's statement show each lot she owns separately.

The "Bryer farm" is now owned by about 40 or 50 persons, deponent owning 13 or 14 of the lots. She owned the same property in 1911 and (except a small strip sold to Dr. Bates) in 1910. In 1909 her husband owned it. In 1910 the property was assessed for $40,000, and in 1911. In 1908 it was assessed for $28,000—this was stricken out, as she did not then own the land. She has had one offer from Dr. Bates for a large lot, of five cents a foot. She has placed a value of 10 cents on it. Another of her lots she had offered to sell for 20 cents a foot, or $7,500 for the lot. In her sworn statement she placed on it a value of 22 cents.

Deponent was asked if she had compared the valuation of other land, in the tax books, with what she was assessed. This was ruled out. How many of them were taxed on increased value in 1912? Ruled out, as not the best evidence.

Mr. Levy took a turn, reading the cross-examination of the deposition. It started with his protest against the whole deposition and the claim that if he made any cross-examination that would vacate all his objection to the taking of the deposition.

Deponent said she inherited the property from her late husband, John H. Caswell. She protests both because of the increase and because the tax is assessed in bulk rather than on separate lots. She made a sworn statement to the assessors in 1911. She did not file a plat with the town clerk, or have recorded a plat showing a division of the Bryer farm into separate and distinct lots. There is one, there, called 1384, of the Bryer farm. Each lot sold from this farm had a plat of that lot attached to the deed—as a rule.

Here Mr. Levy came to what he described as disconnected questions, which he claimed showed the unreliability of the alleged deposition. The court paid particular attention as Mr. Levy read.

Deponent said she has sold but one lot—to Dr. Bates, who paid 10 cents a foot. Deponent judges that land values have decreased, judging by one offer. This land is about 20 minutes walk from the ferry. In 1910 she withdrew her property from local agents and put it for sale with a New York agent. She does not know what Dr. Bates paid for his large lot.

At this point the deposition approached such a tangled conglomeration of objections and protests that both Messrs. Levy and Burke agreed to leave out that part. In fact, the reading of the deposition was such a technical matter that it seemed to be largely something confined to the court and lawyers.

After a recess the reading of the deposition was completed. Deponent was asked if she knew what various purchasers paid for their lots, and to each she answered that she did not remember. Judge Burke explained that she has sold but one parcel. The rest were sold before she was the owner. Mr. Levy objected that the answers were not that she did not know. He asked if she had any memoranda. This was ruled out, exception noted.

Deponent said she had signed deeds given by her husband and always knew the amount paid for each, but has forgotten. The deposition shows that she had a memorandum of sales. Judge Stearns ruled all this out; the sales were too remote. Deponent admitted having such a memorandum but added: "You can get better information in your own (the town clerk's) office." Then she deposed repeatedly: "I have no memoranda." Asked if her counsel did not have such a memorandum, which she had had for several years, there was objection to the question. Judge Stearns ruled it out. Still pressed, Mrs. Caswell deposed: "I refer you for any matters of ancient

AT THE CUSTOMS HOUSE.

Collector Walcott and Inspector Briggs Only Officials in State Outside Providence.

Collector of Customs Gardiner of Providence, the only collector in the state now, was here Tuesday afternoon in consultation with Deputy Collector W. H. Walcott, who will have charge of the local office. The method of doing business under the new conditions was talked over and plans were perfected to carry on the work as well as possible. The details were also arranged.

Mr. Walcott will have as his assistant Inspector Benjamin T. Briggs, who will be the only other one connected with the local office. Inspector Nathan King, who has been inspector at Dutch Island harbor for years will go out of office July 15, when the only customs officials in the state outside the Providence custom house will be Deputy Collector Walcott and Inspector Briggs of the local office.

With the change in collector go also the duties of custodian of the federal building. Since the beginning of its existence this building has been in charge of the collector of customs but Tuesday Postmaster Burlingame received a telegram from Washington notifying him of his appointment as custodian of the postoffice building. This is an honorable but not a lucrative position; there is a good deal of work connected with it, but not one cent of salary. Still, Postmaster Burlingame was looking cheerful this morning.

PAPER CANNON.

[Tit-Bits.]

To the amazingly long list of articles made of paper there may be added paper cannon, which have been manufactured at the Krupp works, in Germany. These paper field pieces are for special use of the infantry. Their calibre is a little less than two inches, and the pieces are so light that a soldier can easily carry one. But the resistance is greater than that of a field piece of steel of the same calibre. It is not to be understood that these paper guns are in any way to replace those made of steel. The paper arms are intended merely for uses in situations where the movement of field artillery would be impracticable. Paper artillery on the field of battle seems an extraordinary thing, but it is hardly more so than paper wheels for freight cars on railways appeared when they were first introduced, or for that matter, than paper water pails were.

—Mr. Bernard Morgan, who has had a slight surgical operation, is recovering.

—Mr. F. E. Thompson is conducting the examination for teachers' certificates at the State Normal School today.

—Fishing steamer Enterprise and fishing sloops Clara T. and Reliance are hauled out at the shipyard. It is understood that Mr. Brightman is to fit out the Enterprise for a mackerel trip to the east.

—The highway department is repairing granolithic sidewalks which show signs of breaking up. That at the postoffice was treated Tuesday and the men are on Bellevue avenue today.

—The new shaft and wheel having been put on steamer Squantum, she was launched from the shipyard this morning and at once proceeded to Providence, where the officials of the line will be glad to see her.

—A still alarm at 8:36 this morning called Chemical 1 and Hose 4 to the corner of Friendship street and Broadway, where a back draft had created considerable smoke in the residence of Mr. E. I. Brown. No damage was done.

—Tuesday Tug Solicitor brought here from Warwick Neck the wreck of the old oyster boat George B. McLellan, which was removed under contract with the Engineer office by J. K. Sullivan's fleet. The remains have been hoisted on a dock here, to be broken up.

—Captain and Mrs. George T. Perkins gave a dinner at Fort Adams Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. May M. Smith anod Miss Alberta Smith, who are guests of Captain and Mrs. Allen D. Raymond. The Russian ambassador and Mme. Bakhmeteff entertained at luncheon Tuesday at "Stone Villa."

—The warrant for not allowing a colored couple to dance at the dance hall at the beach is still unserved. The chief of police has returned, but as there is no special rush it was thought best to wait until today's affair is over at the beach before raising the question with the management.

—Battleship Alabama has left Baltimore on a 10 days' cruise with the Maryland and District of Columbia Naval Reserves on board. The ship is expected to arrive here this afternoon or tomorrow morning to remain over the Fourth. The Reserves will be given liberty on their arrival.

—Mr. B. C. Hirst, Jr.'s 18-footer Arrow is hauled out at Williams & Manchester's, to prepare for the coming races of the Narragansett Yacht Racing Association, which will be on this week, Friday, July 4, with the Newport Yacht Club and Saturday, July 5, at Jamestown with the Conanicut Yacht Club. These races are for all classes and it is hoped to have a good entry list for each.

STOLEN GEMS RECOVERED.

Jewelry Taken from Udall & Ballou New York Store Found in a Satchel.

William Beck, a Clerk Well Known Here, Arrested and Confesses Knowledge of the Robbery.

The gems stolen recently from the New York store of Udall & Ballou have been recovered by the Burns Detective Agency and are at police headquarters in that city, where this morning Mr. Udall and Manager Kirby went to examine them. William Beck, a clerk employed by the firm, who fled shortly after the robbery, was arrested today in New Jersey and brought back to New York. He is said to have made a confession of his knowledge of the robbery. His arrest followed the recovery of the stolen gems in a valise at the Pennsylvania railroad station.

According to an Associated Press despatch, a satchel containing the jewels was found Tuesday night at the Pennsylvania station and was watched all night, in the hope that it would be claimed and the one who claimed it would be caught. This morning, no one having appeared to claim it, the detectives decided to wait no longer and took the satchel to police headquarters, where it was found to contain 450 pieces of jewelry, the value of which was given by the firm at about $98,000.

Notice was received this morning at the Newport store of the firm that William Beck had been captured Tuesday night. Beck is the young repair clerk who jumped out of a window at headquarters Monday, while being questioned by the police. This action caused suspicion to point to him more strongly than to any other, and as he has since been missing this suspicion increased. The police obtained an exact duplicate of the bag belonging to Beck, which he says disappeared from beneath his desk Friday night, when the jewels were taken, and this probably led to the discovery of the missing bag with the gems at the depot. Beck is well known to many in this city.

Henry H. Kirby, sales manager of the New York store, is a Newport boy who has been with the firm since leaving the Cusino. President Francis Ballou said of him Tuesday that he had the most implicit confidence in Mr. Kirby, who had worked for the firm for 12 years, and that he felt for him much more than mere business friendship.

MINISTER VAN DYKE.

[New York Times.]

The selection of Dr. Henry Van Dyke to represent the United States at the court of The Netherlands will give general satisfaction in both countries. It is not surprising that his appointment should have been due, in some degree, to the fact that he is of Dutch descent, but it is of more importance that he has some of the best qualities of his Holland ancestry.

He is a scholar with an eager and constant zest for scholarship; he has marked gifts of graceful, refined and vigorous expression in prose and verse; he has a well-defined and high standard of citizenship and a firm belief in those principles of orderly freedom which the United States largely aided in establishing in our country. Americans of whatever descent may be proud to accept him as, in every sense, their representative.

GOVERNMENT RESTRICTS USE OF COCAINE.

Seven years after its enactment the federal wood and drugs law has just been invoked to put an end to the indiscriminate and promiscuous use of cocaine, now ranking as perhaps the most insidious and dangerous of habit forming drugs. Hereafter every sale of cocaine or coca leaves, however small, which is made in this country will be put on record with an affidavit as to the purpose of its use. In this matter the national government has effected a means of regulating the supply, so that in the future the drug cannot be obtained except in legitimate medical practice.

The army of victims scattered over the United States, who are said to be addicted to the use of cocaine "flake is estimated to number between 100,000 and 250,000. For several years the amount of cocaine used in this country has exceeded 150,000 ounces, which is estimated by government drug experts to be about ten times the quantity needed in bona fide medical practice.

WINS PURITAN CUP RACE.

Plant Schooner Elena Leads Five Rivals in Regatta Off Marblehead.

Mr. Morton F. Plant's schooner yacht Elena added to her lengthening chain of marine victories by winning the Puritan Cup race in the annual regatta of the Eastern Yacht Club off Marblehead Tuesday. She had five rivals, including her usual antagonist Mr. R. Water Clark's frolic, and the new Vanderbilt schooner Vagrant H. In a white sail southwester over a 24-mile triangular course the Plant boat was never headed and defeated the frolic by 5 minutes 52 seconds.

As the Puritan cup, which the old cup defender captured off this port in the Goelet cup race of 1885, is a perpetual trophy, Commodore Plant's material gain in Tuesday's event was a silver medal and the satisfaction of having his yacht's name inscribed on the base of the tall piece of beautifully worked silverware. By divisions, for which the club offered suitable prize, the winners were the Elena, Vagrant H, and Dorello II.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The land recently purchased by the Methodist Episcopal Church for a new horse shed is being enclosed for the present, pending the making out of the deeds, by a post and rail fence so that it can be used. The present quarters are much cramped, necessitating the standing of automobiles in the road. The recently acquired land is a part of the Middletown cemetery, the south western corner. The wall will be taken down to permit entrance.

Professor and Mrs. Bertram Albro are guests for the week of Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Wells at the Methodist parsonage.

The strawberries are lasting well, one of the large raisers carrying in 22 crates today.

Mrs. L. E. Payson and family from Washington, have arrived at her cottage on Green End hill for the season.

Mrs. Jacob Ward and her niece, Miss Sarah Ward, are spending the summer on Channing street, Newport.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt are at "Sandy Point Farm."

—Boatswain B. F. Singles has been ordered to the Naval Training Station.

—Mr. Felix Duffy of New York is visiting Mrs. D. W. Sheehan on John street.

—Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Gillett will spend July and August in North Newry, Maine.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cunningham are at their cottage on Washington street for the summer.

—The Misses Stevens are entertaining Miss Margaret Jackson of New York at their cottage on Rhode Island avenue.

—Chief Boatswain John W. Angus has been detached from the receiving ship at New York and ordered to the Cumberland.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt are expected to arrive from Europe in about a fortnight, to spend the summer at "Oakland Farm."

—Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings, who are at their country place at Fairfield, Conn., will come to Newport July 15, to occupy their residence, "Bellacre," on Bellevue avenue, until September.

—Lieutenant Silas H. Hazard of the Newport Artillery is recovering from an operation at the Rhode Island Hospital, Providence. He expects to be home shortly.

—Mrs. George D. Widener is at the Drexel cottage, "Fairholme" for the season. With her are her son, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fitz Eugene Dixon of Philadelphia.

—Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wickes, who are at Tuxedo, will come to Newport July 15, to occupy their summer residence, "Zeerust," on Narragansett avenue, for the remainder of the summer.

—Tuesday, after leaving the steamer at New York, Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs was looking after her trunks and was struck and somewhat injured by a truck wheeled by a careless longshoreman.

—Former Commodore and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry and the Misses Gerry, who returned from Europe on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie Tuesday, came to Newport by special train and are at "Seaverge" for the season.

—There has been a dearth of desirable applicants for the extra work on the electric cars this summer, and in consequence many college students have been sent from Boston and other points. Have come from Fall River.

—The tarvia which was distributed on Broadway for re-surfacing has been carted to the beach, in order to push along the work on Bath road, which has reached the foot of the hill. All the way up the hill it is necessary to pare off some of the old surfacing, to cut down to the new grade established by the re-arrangement of tracks.

—The naval nurses are now installed in their new home, the Blatchford cottage on Catherine street. The lease was determined upon on so short notice that the house could not be put in complete readiness for them Monday, when they were obliged to move in. The house had been stripped of its furnishings and new equipment was sent from New York.

—The committee on Fourth of July celebration Tuesday evening talked over matters for an hour or more and adjournment was had until tonight, when it is hoped to finish the program. Mr. Commette has found it impossible to secure a good chorus for the concert of patriotic airs in King Homestead Park in the morning and it is proposed to substitute a band concert for this.

PUSHING POSTAL MATTERS.

Commission Also Working on Good Roads for the Rural Routes.

Bourne's Financial Plan—Overman Tired of Lobby Investigation—No Summer Diplomacy.

(Washington correspondence of The News.)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Ever since the last Congress ended a commission composed of three members of each house has been working on postal matters, particularly as regards railway mail pay and good roads for rural routes. Three members from each house, I said, but the work has really been carried on by Former Senator Bourne of Oregon, who has been devoting his time to these subjects without pay.

Bourne has reached some conclusions about the government during this time. In the first place, he is emphatic in his belief that we have the best form of government ever devised by man for the human race. "But it must be vitalized," he says. "It must be made to carry out the wishes of the people." Then he would have a few changes made, one of which would take from the President the power of nominating officers of the federal government serving in the different states. The power of the President is too great, made so by patronage, is the opinion of Bourne.

Bourne has also concluded that the best results for legislation can be obtained by commissions composed of Congressmen, who can bring about an adjustment of railway mail pay, second class rates of postage and finally will present a practical plan for the improvement of the roads of the country by federal aid.

For the latter plan Bourne has evolved a financial scheme, which contemplates the return of the money paid by the federal government after a period of 50 years and which may satisfy the consciences of those who are a bit squeamish on account of states' rights.

Senator Overman, chairman of the lobby investigating committee, has had enough. He would like to get through with it as soon as possible. He wants to give everybody a chance to be heard, and he doesn't really care how much evidence goes into the record of the case if they will only push it along rapidly.

It has rather amused members of the committee to see Senators rush in with bills to suppress the lobbyists, especially when it is expected that the special committee will recommend legislation and probably prepare a bill. They know that some one is seeking to have a little of the advertising that is going about.

Diplomacy is the most accommodating thing in public affairs. When the weather becomes hot it shuts up like a clam. There is never summer diplomacy. The diplomats go away, and the men who talk to diplomats usually depart. Oh, but these grave questions which keep the best and high priced men on government pay rolls is easily adjustable to climatic conditions! There seems to be no diplomatic tangle that cannot be straightened out or postponed when dog days approach.

Always there will be the question of abandoning military posts in different states where they do not seem best located for military purposes, and always there will be a fierce protest by Congressmen representing the states. "It's not for me to dip into that matter," remarked James Hay, chairman of the House military committee. "I may have votes enough to put such a proposition through the House, but it would go against a stone wall in the Senate. The power is with the Secretary of War. That's what I have told the department."

"In closing," said Senator Lane toward the end of a speech of not more than half an hour in the Senate, "and I know that you will be glad to hear that I am soon to close, for I have heard of Senators who talk a full hour and a half in this body." And what he said afterward was lost in real laughter for of all places where long winded speeches are heard, or, rather, spoken, the Senate has every other place "skinned a mile." Lane never looked more serious in his life but everybody realized that he was poking fun at the august body of which he is a member.

Former Congressman Ayres of the Bronx, New York, wants to come to Congress again and frankly states his ambition. "When I come back here again," he said, "I am going to introduce a bill appropriating $100,000 to erect a statue to the great god Bunk." Ayres had just been talking about various matters which have been uppermost in the public mind in Washington.

SO DECEPTIVE.

Many Newport People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive.

It comes and goes—keeps you guessing.

Learn the cause—then cure it.

Possibly it's weak kidneys.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

They're especially for weak or disordered kidneys.

Here's a Newport case.

Mrs. J. Shea, 106 Thames St., Newport, R. I., says: "I suffered from severe attacks of backache and my kidneys acted irregularly. I was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed at night. I was all run down and felt very nervous. I needed a good kidney tonic and found it in Doan's Kidney Pills. They relieved the pain and distress in my back and benefited my whole system. They fixed my kidneys up all right and after I used them I was better able to do my work. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for making me well."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's—and take no other.

Parlor Meeting Exercises of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

[Regular correspondence of the News]

A parlor meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Eunice A. Green. The exercises were in charge of Miss Etta M. Sherman, superintendent of the department of peace, who presented the following program:

Singing, "Onward, Christian Soldier," by the company, Mrs. Greene pianist; repetition of the Shepherd's psalm, in unison; prayer, Rev. John Wadsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church; vocal solo, "If Jesus had never died," Mrs. Richard R. Macomber; instrumental solo, Miss Edna Malone; recitation, "I was only playing that I was 99." Miss Frances Chase of Swansea; reading, "Peace Allies," Mrs. William R. Mosher, from Julia Radford Tomkinson; reading, Mrs. George C. Faulkner, "To check the biggest moral folly;" reading, Mrs. Clara E. Dennis, "Bryan on War" and Bryan's "Twin Warships"; reading, Mrs. Kate Bailey, "Nations enter into peace Agreement" and "Henry Van Dyke likes his post," Mrs. Thomas J. Sweet; vocal solo, "Sweet Peace, Wonderful Gift of His Love" Mrs. William A. Lawrence, Mrs. Greene joining in the refrain; readings from adresses on "The United States as a World Power," Edwin D. Mead, and "Foreign Missions and World Peace," by Miss Etta M. Sherman; instrumental solo, Miss Edna Malone; address Rev. Mr. Wadsworth; address Mrs. Towle of Augusta, Maine, superintendent of the Soldiers' Home at Togus, who is visiting her son, Mr. G. M. Towle, superintendent of the Newport & Providence electric road. Light refreshments were served and a social half-hour followed.

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. Joseph's Church, Fall River, held its annual excursion at Island Park, with about 30 in attendance, being conveyed there in a special car. At the Park they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. James O. Willis at their cottage, the Seaconnet villa. The collation was served on the lawn.

Mr. Frank Demagne of Boston, boss builder on the Stone Bridge, and his family, have taken a cottage here for the summer.

A moving picture show has been started at Island Park.

A new club has been formed at the Hummocks, called the Wood Choppers' Social Club. They meet every evening at 7 o'clock and do some strenuous work with the saw and the axe.

Another fire was averted recently by members of the Hummocks fire brigade. A blaze was under way when discovered by one of the members. It was attended to at once and soon put out.

Miss Helen Allen, teacher of languages in the Falmouth, Mass., high school, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Allen of North Attleboro, arrived Tuesday to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Eunice A. Greene.

Employes of the Newport & Providence Railway Company, under the direction of Superintendent Towle, have spent two entire days on the work of changing the feed pole standing in front of St. Paul's Church, permission having been granted by the town council.

Mrs. William H. Tallman has had as guest this week Miss Estelle Cornell of Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cornell, while crossing the "Little Bridge" at the foot of Park avenue, had the rear wheel of their buggy caught in the car tracks. As a result, the spokes were broken from the hub, the buggy tipped over and both Mr. and Mrs. Cornell were thrown out, sustaining a number of bruises.

Miss Edna M. Brophy, teacher at the Chase school, has gone to the home of her parents at the Head of Westport, to spend her vacation.

The Harmony Circle of the North Dighton Methodist Episcopal Church are spending a week at the Cedar Cottage, with Mrs. Thomas W. Smith and her mother as chaperones.

DANDRUFF ON HEAD HAIR CAME OUT

Head Itched and Burned All the Time. Rash Formed a Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Waterford, Me.—"I had dandruff in my head for a year. My hair came out. My head itched and burned all the time. The dandruff scaled off and could be seen plainly in my hair. There was a rash on my head and it itched terribly and ran yellow matter which would form a crust and itch and burn. My hair came out in handfuls.

"I tried —— and a number of other tonics and they did no good. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them and after I used the samples up I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed my head in Cuticura Soap and then used a little Cuticura Ointment. I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Luella Lord, May 10, 1913.

RINGWORMS COVERED FACE

35 Hall St., Winooski, Vt.—"My child's face was covered with red ringworms that would prick and itch and keep her from sleeping. At the time her face was all disfigured. I tried all kinds of remedies without any success. I was advised to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time my child's face was all well." (Signed) Mrs. Laura Barber, May 26, 1913.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp that torture, itch, burn, scale and destroy sleep. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

CROWDS DWINDLE TO FRACTION.

machine was greeted by a battery of camera men, while a number of citizens came up to greet him. There was no surging crowd as he waded through the sand to the entrance, where a moving picture machine was posed, awaiting him. He seemed to see it and paused to give it a chance to work, but unfortunately he posed in a poorly lighted spot.

He entered the tent while Bavetta's band, the big musical organization from New York which opens its engagement at the beach today, played and the audience, who was seated or standing in a small section directly in front of the platform, cheered. As soon as the speakers and leaders could arrange themselves on the platform the speaking was begun.

Not all the seats were in place at the big tent, but there were enough for a few thousand more than were there to occupy them, despite the fact that after Mr. Roosevelt arrived the doors were opened wide and the sides were let down, so that any one was at liberty to enter without price.

An abstract of Colonel Roosevelt's speech follows:

Colonel Roosevelt's Address.

Colonel Roosevelt in his address made a plea for the maintenance of adequate naval strength. Congressmen who vote against two battleships a year, he said, are "on a level with men who voted against fortifying Hawaii and our stations in the West Indies. These men are unfit to represent the American people, and they by their actions invite national disaster and humiliation."

He characterized as wicked any advocation of arbitration where national honor and interests are concerned, and said that to enforce the Monroe Doctrine, to retain Panama, Alaska and our insular possessions, to determine what aliens and on what terms they shall come to this country, demands the power to "back up our words wih deeds."

After scoring those Congressmen who opposed a two-battleship-a-year policy, he continued:

"There is, however, a lower depth even than that plumbed by the men who seek by their votes in Congress to keep us impotent to protect ourselves. This lower depth is reached by those who, while voting against every measure to provide us with means to protect our honor against any foreign foe, nevertheless, by foolish, brutal and insulting utterances concerning foreign powers, expose us to the liability of a war which they themselves by their own actions have striven to render it impossible for us successfully to undertake.

"There can be no worse type of public servant than those Congressmen who first do all they can to prevent the American people from being able to uphold their interest and honor in the event of war, and then do all they can with wanton and ignorant folly to plunge us into war. Remember always that in such cases these men would not themselves be the ones to suffer. They are very rarely sensitive to national honor, and still more rarely willing to expose their persons in the event of there being an appeal to the final arbiter between nations. In such event these men almost always themselves remain in safety, and let their misconduct be atoned for by other men, by brave men who pay for it with their blood, by patriotic men who perforce have to pay for it with shame."

Here Colonel Roosevelt took up the situation in China, "which has suffered partial dismemberment purely because she has permitted herself to become impotent in war." If the American people were to follow in Chinese footsteps, he pointed out, doubtless some decades would pass before "we would suffer to the extent of China; but long before that time had come we should have had to abandon all pretense of upholding the Monroe Doctrine, we should have had to abandon Panama and Alaska and every insular possession, and we should have had to surrender all right to say what immigrants shall and what immigrants shall not be admitted to our country, and the terms upon which they shall come here and become citizens or hold land. It is a matter of vital concern to all our people, but above all it is a matter of vital concern to our wageworkers and farmers and small business and professional men, to have the undisputed right to decide every such question for ourselves; and our claim so to decide these questions would be treated with utter derision if we did not have an efficient navy and if we did not possess both the will and the power to back up our words by our deeds.

"Therefore, it seems to me incredible folly that any of our people should wish to put us in the position of China and should believe that by saving worthy persons put their names on scraps of paper, or get together at banquets and pass resolutions, we would be able to substitute some patent remedy like universal international arbitration for a navy. This is especially true when we remember that this country would not for one moment permit any of these vital questions of national honor and interest to be submitted to arbitration. To advocate universal arbitration treaties, the arbitration of questions of national interest and honor, is folly as great as folly to be wicked.

"It is even worse to advocate such treaties and at the same time show no intention of keeping treaties already made that can be kept, and no intention of submitting to arbitration questions that can properly be arbitrated. There is nothing more important to our international good name than to have our people once for all wake up to the fact that it is undurable to show readiness in making promises that cannot be kept and total readiness in breaking promises that can and ought to be kept. One or two very bad treaties have been made of recent years, treaties which were meant to be taken as making promises which as a matter of fact could not and could not be kept. Other treaties have been passed making promises which could be kept and which ought to be kept, and it is undurable not to keep these promises.

"Let us above all things else have a coherent policy in these matters. Let it be understood that every man who tries to stop building up the navy and stop fortifying the canal is voting to put us in a position where we can even resent insult let alone ourselves insulting others with impunity. Let us remember that the policy of using the unbridled tongue and the ready hand is a policy of criminal folly. The most dangerous of all policies for any nation is to be opportunistically aggressive and unarmed. The only safe and honorable course is now is to combine absolute courtesy and justice toward other nations with adequate preparedness for war which is the only sure means of averting war.

"We have the right to insist on the Monroe Doctrine; we have the right to insist that we, and we alone, are to decide as to what immigrants shall come to our shores and as to whether or not immigrants shall become citizens of our own kind; these and other similar rights are not merely rights but duties; we should show the utmost courtesy and consideration for the feelings of others in insisting upon them; and we should also realize that it will in the long run be idle to insist upon them unless we are ready to back up our words with our deeds, and that to do this it is necessary to keep our navy of adequate size and at the highest pitch of efficiency."

About 1,200 at the Bake.

The convention hall at the beach was turned into a dining room today, and ere the exercises in the tent began the tables were spread in it for the clambake and the management was prepared for the serving of 4,000 dinners, the number contracted for. Two big bakes had been lighted, each 20 by 8 feet, in the rear of the kitchen, and in these had been placed 200 bushels of clams and a great amount of other eatables for serving the expected big party. The convention hall was to be used as the overflow from the regular dining room, in the latter in one corner being the head table, with places marked for the notables, as follows: Mr. Fridge, Mr. Peckham, Dr. Perin, Mr. Dresser, Peckham, Dr. Perin, Mr. Dresser, Miss Keller, Colonel Roosevelt, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. Beveridge, Mr. Straus, Mr. Pinchot, Mr. Walker, Mr. Holmes.

It was 1 o'clock when dinner was served, it having taken some time for the diners to come in through the one entrance which was available for ticket taking. Many of them had apparently not been to the speaking tent, for they were in waiting for the dining room to open promptly at 12:30, the appointed time. When all were in, including the Boy Scouts and the ushers, it was estimated that there were about 4,200 at the tables in the main dining room and none in the convention hall. The regular dinner at the beach of course was suspended and many who purchased tickets were those who form the daily excursion patronage.

The diners were at the tables when Colonel Roosevelt arrived and gave him an enthusiastic welcome as he made his way between the tables to his place.

Senator Beveridge Arraigns Other Parties.

That Senator Beveridge might follow his schedule and start for home again this afternoon, the dinner was interrupted while he spoke for half an hour. The speech was political, plain and simple. He arraigned the old parties for what they have not done and told what the new party, the Progressives, will do. He tore the Democratic tariff policy to pieces and said they are framing up something which cannot be carried into effect, and ended by saying that the only remedy for the situation is in the Progressive party.

The Decorations.

The principal streets are more or less elaborately decorated. Many American flags are displayed, and some are large and worthy of notice. In several shop windows are placed "Teddy Bears"; the largest and decidedly the best looking of these popular animals is to be seen in the window of J. T. O'Connell's shop on Long wharf. The Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association is one of the most attractively decorated buildings in the city. On the front there is stretched on each side a large American flag, which covers the space of three tiers of windows, and the two flags together cover two thirds the width of the building.

Boy Scouts on Duty.

This was a busy day for the Newport division of Boy Scouts. Details of from six to a dozen were posted through the morning at all the boat landings, at the depot and at the terminals of the trolley lines. They carried their staves and some wore their uniforms, and they were under orders to volunteer information to visitors entering the city and guide them in the direction they wished to go. The Scouts rendered efficient service in this respect. About 11 o'clock the details were relieved and the Scouts went in a body to the beach, where they heard Colonel Roosevelt's address and then were guests of the Progressive party at the clambake.

Notes of the Day.

Many Newporters and excursionists hung about the windows of the dining hall, stretching their necks to see all they could and making all the noise they could.

Prior to the completion of work in the tent, a line of fire hose was carried in and the sand was wet down, to make it more comfortable to walk over.

Admirals Badger and Caperton were both in attendance at the tent for the speech-making.

A warmer day at the beach there has not been for a long time. During the forenoon there was hardly a breath of air stirring and it was really oppressive on the board walk, while in the tent it was sweltering until the sides were lowered and a little air circulated through.

Fakers were in town for the day and secured concessions on the board walk for various Progressive merchandise, but their stocks dwindled very slowly. Even the attempt to meet an expected heavy demand for the morning papers resulted in failure.

Chief Crowley has been worrying for days about what was to be done for the protection of the crowds from the sharks which came on the trail of all such gatherings, but while both the beach and the city have extra officers on duty the number seems to be out of all proportion to the crowd.

When Newport really had a big thing, the battleship clambakes, it was impossible to secure a moving picture concern to come here to take a picture of it. Today both Rugen and the Pathe Weekly have machines at work, and are finding little to take in comparison to what they expected.

After the address following the clambake a large number of young women took a collection for the general cause.

Steamer Warwick was arrayed in holiday garb today, being decorated with numerous flags. She presented a pleasing effect as she sailed into the harbor with her flags flying.

The Pontiac arrived from Pawtucket about 1 o'clock, docking at Bowen's wharf. The seating capacity of the boat was taxed to its utmost.

THE NATIONAL FLAG.

The National flag of 13 stars and 13 stripes was adopted by Congress June 14, 1777. The stars were at first arranged in a circle, but a few years later were placed in rows. After the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union the number of stars and stripes was increased to 15 each, May 1, 1795, the law to that effect being signed by President Washington January 13, 1794. The flag remained in that form through our wars with France, with Tripoli and with England on the first voyage of an American warship around Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope, and in the writing of Key's "Star-Spangled Banner". April 4, 1818, President Monroe signed the present flag law, and July 4, 1818, the national ensign was made to consist, as at present of 13 stripes and of a number of stars equal to the number of states.

RENDERED SWORN ACCOUNT.

history to the town clerk's office," and finally deponent answers a question with: "It is none of your business."

All owners of the Bryer farm have equal rights in the bathing beach. It is valued by all. Then the questions went back to that "momoranda again. Defendant believed she had a memorandum of the prices she set on her several lots. These prices are more than the values she gave the assessors. "An asking price is not a taking price;" she would take less if it should suit her to do so. She withheld one or two parcels from any selling price. She gave her agents a plat of her land and indicated asking prices, with instructions to come to her for the selling price. She received one offer from the town clerk; that was the only one she has received. The land is all unimproved and all for sale.

At 11:45 the deposition was finished.

Town Clerk Severance then took the stand with the original tax roll, and Judge Burke asked if there was an assessment against George Anthony, on the Bryer plat. It was there; also a large number of others; all these lots on the Bryer plat, attached to plaintiff's deposition. That plat was left with the assessors.

Captain J. P. Cotton, civil engineer for 45 years, took the stand. He made the plat, for building purposes, in 1884. Each sale has been platted on his office plat of the premises. The first sale was in 1886 to Robert Frazer. Lots are laid out and sold on the various streets shown in the plat. Public highways and lands in other hands, completely sever different portions of the lands of Mrs. Caswell from each other. The roads are laid out; witness staked them out. They appear on the plat of 1884. Each lot sold was surveyed on the ground, staked and platted in witness's office. The dirt roads on the plat were years ago turnpiked. All the roads were staked out—with wooden stakes. Benjamin Bryer owned the land when witness surveyed it in 1884. There is a sewer in Bryer avenue.

At 12:30 the court said "Two o'clock."

FAST AND SLOW BASE BALL.

One Hundred and Second Company and Training Station the Winners.

The One Hundred and Second company defeated the Ninety-seventh, 2 to 0 in a fast game in the Post League series at Fort Adams Tuesday. Cullen of the winners pitched a remarkable game, not allowing a single hit, and the team behind him played a fast fielding game. Maynard also pitched well, allowing only six hits and having eight strike-outs to his credit, but his fielders were not so good, making eight errors which counted for runs. The score was as follows:

HOW HAGENBECK FILLED HIS CONTRACT.

[Christian Herald.]

Karl Hagenbeck, who died recently, was the most renowned animal collector and dealer in the world. He supplied nearly all the menageries and zoos in three continents. He kept his animals in a large park at Stellingon near Hamburg. During his last years he did not go far from home, and took no risks from wild animals. In 1905 the German government asked him if he would furnish 1,000 dromedaries, provide saddles for each, and transport them thousands of miles from East Africa to German Southwest Africa, and have the first shipment of 300 beasts ready in three months. He said that he could. He sent his brother and other trusty men to do the buying and set sail in a vessel he had chartered and fitted up especially for the purpose. He could not find any saddle to suit him, so he invented one and had the saddlers of Hamburg make them. He had his first shipment delivered in three months, and then the rest of the thousand were furnished. The German government was so pleased with the animals, their quality, and the speed of their delivery, that it took another thousand of them from him.

Light Colored Cocoa Most Healthful

Doctors say that the oil in cocoa is indigestible and that the food value of this delicious beverage is lessened if it contains an excess of oil. (It is this oil which makes cocoa darker in color.)

Dr. W. S. Hall, in Nutrition and Dietetics, says:

"The oil of cocoa does not belong to the food fats and is not capable of deposit as a food in animal tissues."

Rockwood's Cocoa

"The healthful cocoa with the lighter color"

—is offered to cocoa lovers as a pure, delicious food drink from which the excess oil has been removed. The lighter color of Rockwood's proves this.

Note the delicate, pure cocoa fragrance of Rockwood's when you open can.

More sustaining and nourishing than other cocoas. Best for everybody, from the very young to the very old, because more easily digested.

In big and little cans at all grocers.

THE SUMMER MAILS.

The mail arrangements for the summer season will be the same as heretofore, the early and late mails coming and going as usual. A new contract for four years has just been made with the New England Steamship Company to transport the mails to and from Wickford Landing, as heretofore. The contract for the Jamestown mails again goes to the Jamestown Ferry Company. There seems to be some question about the Block Island mails, as the New England Steamship Company has ceased to run the New Shoreham, but the new management, the town of New Shoreham, will see that the mails go to and from the island as usual.

matter of ice business. He suggested that perhaps the ice company had good reasons for making the prices it is charging and it seemed only fair to it to have a conference on the matter before taking any other action. This idea seemed to meet approval and the company was invited to be present at the meeting of the board tonight and talk over ice prices.

The board adjourned, to meet this evening at 7:30.

GREAT BRITAIN'S POSITION IN EUROPE.

[Sydney Brooks, in North American Review.]

It is extremely difficult to foretell what would be the British course of action in the event of a war between the members of the Dual and Triple alliance that concerned none of the questions dealt with by either the Anglo-French or the Anglo-Russian agreement, but that might none the less have a vital influence on British interests. Such a war, arising out of the Balkan crisis, has been a possibility any time during the past six months and at moments something more than a possibility. And, naturally, the line that Great Britain would take, were it to break out, has been the subject of a good deal of discussion. One school has argued that the limits of British obligation to support France or Russia are precisely fixed by the terms of the Anglo-French and the Anglo-Russian conventions and are very far from involving a general liability to take up arms in their behalf in all eventualities, and that Great Britain, therefore, in the event of a European conflict provokedby the problems of the Balkans, would be free, if she chose, to remain neutral.

Another and I should judge, a more powerful school has maintained on the contrary that neutrality would mean the destruction of that policy of European insurance which Downing Street has laboriously built up in the past decade; that Great Britain would return in that event to her old position of isolation, with all its perils indefinitely multiplied; that in the long run it is not possible for her to be inside the Triple Entente one year and outside it the next, as the mood of the moment may decide; and that her agreements and friendships with France and Russia which, so long as they are effective, remove the possibility of an anti-British coalition weighing the balance of naval power, commit her to the support of those powers whenever their existence is jeopardized by European foes. The publicists of this school, however, are apt to spoil their case by insisting that the only way in which Great Britain can render effectual aid to France or Russia is to adopt universal and compulsory military service and to raise her army to the Continental scale of magnitude. The objections to any such course are overwhelming.

PASHA IN BRINDISI.

Will Work with Italy for Settlement of Albanian Question.

BRINDISI, Italy, July 2.—Essad Pasha, former commandant of the fortress of Scutari, accompanied by a number of Albanian notables, arrived here today. He expressed his intention of working in agreement with the Italian government for a satisfactory and definite settlement of the Albanian question especially in view of the complications which have occurred among the former Balkan allies.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, July 2, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 64¾, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 95⅝, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 87, Canadian Pacific 216, Chesapeake & Ohio 53⅝, Erie 25⅝, Missouri Pacific 30, Northern Pacific 107⅝, Reading 158, Rock Island 15½, Union Pacific 147, United States Steel 52⅞, United States Steel preferred 102.

Noon—Recent indications of the market's underlying firmness and of the scarcity of stocks gave traders on the long side more confidence, and the street was full of "bull" tips on some of the more conspicuous speculative mediums. Talk in connection with the Union Pacific centered around the supposedly large short interest in that stock of a prominent Boston operator. The foreign markets continue to reflect uncertainty over the financial and political outlook and bears expected assistance in the way of selling from abroad. Berlin sold Canadian Pacific moderately on direct orders and Paris unloaded lightly on low-priced coppers, but the total of foreign selling was not large. Bear traders, disappointed in this respect, soon abandoned their attack on the list. Following the opening decline and the subsequent recovery, on both of which movements few stocks fluctuated as much as a point, the market was maintained on a dead level during the remainder of the forenoon. Money on call, steady, at 2 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4 per cent. Exchanges, $638,671,632; balances, $35,443,856.

LARGE AUCTION SALE.

F. W. Greene Disposes of Valuable Articles From House in Tiverton.

Mr. F. W. Greene, auctioneer, has just finished a big job in Tiverton, where he was called upon to sell the contents of the house of the late Mrs. Bessie Riddell of Chicago and Tiverton. The cottage, which is situated a short way below the bridge, was fairly packed with various articles purchased by Mrs. Riddell, who was a collector. She had large rooms filled with china only, or glass only, looking more like a section of a big business establishment than a private residence. Buyers came from this city, Fall River, New Bedford, and especially from Seaconnet Point where there are already a large number of summer residents.

A large tent pitched on the ground, the stable and laundry were used to display articles which could not be shown in the house and most of the selling was done in the open, the weather favoring for the three days of the sale, which ended close to 5 o'clock on the last day. Luncheon was served by Gifford of the Stone Bridge and throughout good prices were realized, dealers looking for bargains buying little on account of the prices paid. It was the largest sale of household effects and collections since the Caldwell cottage sale here, and with that single exception the largest held in this section in more than 25 years.

YOUNGSTER WINS TITLE.

Watson M. Washburn Beats the Veteran Pell on West Side Tennis Courts.

For the first time in the history of the Metropolitan tennis championship a youngster still in his teens won the title on the West Side Tennis Club courts in New York Tuesday. It was a big feather in the cap of Watson M. Washburn and the crowning success of three years of competitive effort, during which the young man improved wonderfully from a novice to an expert capable of extending some of the leading players. What gave added merit to the performance was the fact that his opponent, Theodore R. Pell, a veteran, has been playing at the top of his form all season and until yesterday had not lost a single match.

Washburn won impressively, taking three sets out of four, two of them with great ease, 6-1, and the other after an exciting tussle that went 16 games, 9-7. It was the sort of tennis that the average enthusiast would go miles to see—good, fast play, splendid court covering, hard driving, lengthy rallies and clever manoeuvring for position. Through it all young Washburn's steadiness was the prime factor. While Pell lost control of his racquet frequently and smashed the ball many yards out of bounds, Washburn was always the cool, calculating player who measured every stroke. When he drove into the net or out of bounds it was usually by a narrow margin.

FOR PERRY CELEBRATION.

Ex-Senator Sanborn Arranging for Quarters for Rhode Island Committee.

Ex-Senator John P. Sanborn, a member of the Perry Centennial Commission which is erecting the monument at Put-in-Bay and arranging the big celebration, left Tuesday night for Buffalo, where he will inspect two boats which have been offered as quarters for the Rhode Island party while on Lake Erie. He also has a proposition to quarter the party at Cedar Point's big hotel and ferry over to the location of the big celebration each day. He hopes soon to be able to report to the Rhode Island committee just what can be done, that contracts may be closed.

TAFT A FOREMOST FIGURE.

[Boston Transcript.]

Not only is ex-President Taft to be the Gettysburg orator, but also the one to give the principal address at the dedication of the monument to Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry at Newport in September. These are the leading historical events to be commemorated this year, and the fact that he is to be the foremost figure at both indicates the high place he holds in the regard of the American people. They recognize his ability; they have full faith in his patriotism and they find his optimism strengthening and inspiring. No higher compliment could be paid a man who has been so prominently before the country than to turn to him as the preferred interpreter of events that have been so crucial and so vital in our national history.

THE BIG NAVY DAY TENT AT THE BEACH.

CINDERELLA OPERETTA.

Charming Pictures in Flower Scenes at St. John's Guild House.

Before a crowded audience in St. John's guild house Tuesday evening "Cinderella in Flowerland," an operetta, was given by the Junior Auxiliary for the benefit of the choir fund. Before the operetta and between the scenes music was furnished on the piano by Raymond Parker. Miss Beulah Friend was the accompanist of the evening.

The scenes of the operetta are: 1, Prince Sunshine's invitation to the ball; 2, Godmother Nature sends Daisy off to the ball; 3, The May Day ball and the shower; 4, the Princess of Sunbeam Castle. As the title implies, the familiar story of Cinderella is charmingly reproduced in flowerland, Cinderella being a meadow daisy and the proud sisters being respectively a poppy and a tiger lily. Marion Leary was excellent as Cinderella and in her scenes with her sisters, Nellie Mumford and Aspasia Axiotes, particularly, showed herself a capable actress. Miss Edith Groff was good as the godmother and Dorothy Lyons, Winifred Lyons and Dorothy Verriest were clever as Bonnie Bee and butterflies. Helen Axiotes was Robin Red and Raymond Devlin Prince Sunshine, and an attractive prince he made.

The blossoms were Rose Ladyman, Lila Mumford, Gertrude Ramlose, Susan Gifford, Sadie James, Annabella Jestings, Louisa Verriest, Lillian Devlin, Marion Bailey and Stella Dupee. Daily Powers, Jennie Devlin, Nita Weaver, Irene Weaver, Catherine Helger and Charlotte Devlin were the sunbeams, and the raindrops were Alfred Beeson, George Axiotes, Frank James, Edwin Olison, Allon Hanley and Gilbert Ramlose.

The stage settings and costumes were particularly attractive, the transformation of the sombre garb of the flowers into their gorgeous ball costumes being pleasing. All the dances, under the direction of Miss Majel Parmenter, were well executed, the flitting in and out among the flowers of Bonnie Bee and the butterflies, and the minuet in the third scene, being worthy of special mention. The song of the raindrops and the appearance of the sunbeams which caused the rainbow, represented by rainbow-colored scarfs, made a charming picture.

The operetta was under the general direction of Mrs. Julius Burdick and was creditable in every way. Homemade cake and candy, fruit punch, and fancy articles were on sale and there was dancing.

THE SKATES-BICYCLE RACE.

There was a large number of fancy skaters at the Rollo rink Tuesday evening, including the Skatelles, who were at Freebody Park last week, and whose skating was watched with interest. A party was present from Fall River.

Everything is ready for the race between Floor Manager O'Rourke on skates and Mr. Recklaw on a bicycle, this evening. The floor is in prime condition and Mr. Recklaw, who has examined it carefully, says it is satisfactory to him. Mr. O'Rourke will try to better his record of a mile in three minutes and three seconds on the rink track, and Mr. Recklaw is a fast rider, who expects to make the skater do his best to win.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

At the meeting of International Union, No. 2, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union, Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected:

President—James McPherson.
Vice President—Alexander Booth, Jr.
Financial Secretary—James M. Kirwin.
Corresponding Secretary—John P. Casey.
Treasurer—Thomas Morgan.
Sergeant-at-Arms—William Williamson.

ASSIGNMENT OF NIGHT POLICE.

The night men of the summer police were assigned their beats last night and the arrangement is as follows:

First Watch—Beat 1, P. D. Sullivan; 2, E. C. Sullivan; 3, W. C. Barker; 4, Fallon; 5, C. S. Sullivan; 6, I. J. Barker; 7, Allen; 8, Dewick; 9, Taylor; 10, Garrick; 11, Gillis; 12, Gregory; 13, H. M. Ackers; 14, Ray; 15, bicycle, Buckley.

Second Watch—Beat 1, Houlihan; 2, Peckham; 3, Coggeshall; 4, C. J. Sullivan; 5, Gentile; 6, Kane; 7, Hamilton; 8, Oxx; 9, Cooney; 10, Newton; 11, C. A. Wilcox; 12, Furey; 13, Angell; special, Bliven.

POLICE BUSINESS.

The police report this morning was brief. One man for drunkenness paid $2 and costs. A horse was found at the corner of Van Zandt avenue and Second street and the pound keeper was notified.

The police say if women, and men, who have bicycles stolen would only notify them, or advertise—in the News of course—they would have a chance to be rid of some superfluous wheels which must have owners somewhere.

CROWDS DWINDLE TO FRACTION.

Not So Many People at the Beach for Navy Day as on Sundays.

Plenty of Room in the Big Tent and at the Bake—Roosevelt's Addresses.

The attendance at the Navy Day exercises at the beach this forenoon dwindled to a mere fraction of what was promised for Newport. The people have not come, and even the navy was prevented from filling in the void, most of the ships being ordered away the very day before. Arrangements were made with great elaboration for the handling of thousands, but they failed to arrive and at the hour when the speech-making opened in the big circus tent the total number on the beach did not equal the Sunday crowds which have appeared there early in the season.

From a careful canvass of the situation Tuesday night it could not be learned from a single transportation agent that anything extra was coming to Newport today except one special boat from Providence. No extra trains were scheduled and this morning conductors stated that they had not been ordered to take a single extra car on their trains. From Fall River the electric road was running double-headers, as arranged Tuesday, but travel was not heavy.

Coming of the Visitors.

The visitors, who came into the city by trains, steamboats, trolleys and automobiles, all made straight for the beach, and the local car lines carried good fares, while carriages were in demand. As early as 8 o'clock the trolley lines from Providence and Fall River were running crowded cars. The early train from Fall River was filled, while on the 9:05 there was an even larger number.

It was at first announced that Colonel Roosevelt would arrive upon this train and the result was that a considerable crowd, in which the proverbial youngster was much in evidence, assembled at the depot and waited restlessly, expecting to catch a glimpse of the chief guest of the day. They were doomed to disappointment, however, for as the passengers trailed off the cars the ex-President was nowhere to be seen. As the News announced Tuesday he had been conveyed from Fall River to Newport in an automobile and was seen shortly before 9 o'clock on Thames street, where the machine was stopped while the ex-President exchanged greeting with several friends.

The steamboats came down the bay with their quota of excursionists, but the crowds were not up to expectations. There were large boats from Providence and they carried a total of about 600 persons. The Warwick was the first to arrive with a special excursion, something more than 100 passengers landing. The boat left immediately for Providence, and will make a return trip to Newport at 2 o'clock. At 11 the Mount Hope docked with about 500 excursionists on board, of whom about 300 dropped off here. The crowd was an orderly one and proceeded quietly up Franklin street, where cars were in readiness to take them to the beach. These boats docked at Commercial wharf. At 11:30 the New Shoreham brought down only 50 people from Providence.

The heaviest traffic was on the trolley lines. The Fall River cars run crowded single cars up to 11 o'clock, when the travel had increased to such an extent that it was found necessary to run double-headers. The cars from Bristol Ferry are bringing fairly good loads on every trip.

The ferry during the morning brought large numbers of automobiles from Jamestown and beyond. The crowds appeared to be increasing as the morning wore on.

Ready for the Crowds.

By 10 o'clock all the necessary preparations at the tent were completed, even to the erection of a sounding board over the speakers' stand. A runway had been built from the board walk to the entrance, right to the east of the roller coaster, and from the roadway those who came in automobiles plodded through the sand. Stands were erected in various places, and in these were located ticket sellers from the various local theatres and other cashiers. They had plenty of tickets, but few purchasers.

From 10 to 11 a few people drifted in, and the sailors who had been duly instructed to act as ushers showed them to their seats. As the hour of 11 approached the automobiles came quite thick and fast, with the summer residents and naval officers and their families. There were some strangers, too, but the number did not seem great.

The exercises were in progress when the electric cars arrived with the excursionists and while some were attracted by the announcement that the big tent was open to all who wished to attend many of them made straight for a bath or for a leisurely stroll on the walk, to take in the sights.

Roosevelt at the Beach.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived at the beach by automobile just before 11 o'clock and as he stepped out of the

AT BOSTON TECHNOLOGY.

Vernon M. F. Tallman Named For a Student Adviser to Freshmen.

Mr. Vernon M. F. Tallman of this city has been named as a student adviser to the Freshmen who are to enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this fall. The appointment of a group of these young men who are already familiar with the Institute and the city of Boston is in accordance with a plan developed by the Technology Christian Association, which is an active organization at the Institute. Each of the student advisers has a number of Freshmen under his care at the beginning of the year, and he will see that they are properly registered, suitable homes found for them, and they are made familiar as quickly as possible with the city in which they are to live for a few years. Incidentally there will be established a close relationship between the members of the different classes.

The student advisers of Freshmen have been selected with a great geographical range, one being from China, another from Porto Rico and a third from Nova Scotia. Twenty-seven Massachusetts cities are represented, all the New England states, all the Middle states and 11 of those west of the Mississippi.

"A WOMAN'S WAY."

Sparkling Comedy of New York Life Being Played at the Opera House.

Apart from the pleasure derived from the plays themselves, one of the enjoyments of the audiences which go to see, week after week, the performances of a stock company is in watching how favorite and familiar players invest themselves with the characters and habits of varying characters, now a man or woman from the slums, again people of birth, brains and breeding; one week dialect or crude speech, another, the purest English which men can write and players speak.

The many friends of the Malley-Denison Company this week have an opportunity to see them in a sparkling comedy of New York life, Mr. Thompson Buchanan's "A Woman's Way," produced by William A. Brady for his wife, Grace George, at the New York Lyceum Theatre, where it ran for an entire season and was admitted to be the best modern play Miss George has ever had. The two performances at the Opera House Tuesday were loudly applauded by good-sized audiences.

Next week the company will be seen in Rida Johnson Young's laughable play, "The Lottery Man," which is likely to be another big drawing card.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

Mortgagee's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed executed by Andrew Conroy of the City and County of Newport and State of Rhode Island, to the Island Savings Bank, a corporation created by law and located in said City of Newport and State of Rhode Island, bearing date March 28, A. TO TALK OVER ICE PRICES

Company Invited to Visit the Aldermen to Discuss Situation.

Board Finds Only Routine Business to Do at Its Monthly Meeting.

The Board of Aldermen held the regular July monthly meeting Tuesday evening. There was not much to do and the members met as usual in the city clerk's office, which was not as comfortable as their own room. The ice matter came up, and on the suggestion of the mayor, after his conference with the city solicitor, it was voted to ask the ice company to send a representative to the meeting this evening to talk on prices. All the members except Alderman Albro were present.

The first business was the monthly audit of bills, which when completed formed finance report No. 6, which was approved for the following amounts:

Board of Health	$1,245.51
City Asylum	474.25
Fire department	1,370.34
Highways and bridges	8,878.21
Highways and bridges, beach	590.78
Police	139.09
Poor, outdoor relief	1,825.20
Parks	1,239.95
Schools	9,499.61
Various city offices	553.85
City Hall	338.31
Lighting streets	3,147.76
Playgrounds	22.55
Beach improvement	7.50
Public celebrations	3.51
Docks and wharves	3.00
Ambulance	82.18
Dog fund	36.00
Touro Synagogue fund	16.93
Prisons and reformatories	113.38
Miscellaneous, public charities	11.65
Cemeteries	365.28
	$20,712.57

The quarterly report of the city treasurer was received, as was the monthly report of the inspector of nuisances and the report of the street commissioner for four weeks ending June 25, which showed expenditures of $9,195.96 for labor, and $11,117.37 for material, a total of $20,323.33. On special accounts $1,248.79 was spent for beach improvement and $2.16 for playgrounds.

The quarterly report of the chief engineer of the fire department showed that there had been 5 box and 27 still alarms during the quarter, the loss by fire was $4,377.25 and the insurance on the buildings was $103,260. The cost of the department for the quarter was $16,524.63.

A communication was received from James M. Gillies, stating that the board walk is completed and ready for inspection. Alderman Hughes called attention to the way the rail on the steps does not join that on the walk, but was told the connections had been made and everything is now right.

A communication was received from the Hitchcock-Banks Motor Car Company, sellers of the Knox fire apparatus, giving a list of cities and towns in which it has apparatus and from which the city could obtain information as to the way the apparatus stands.

John F. Titus was appointed a special policeman.

Fireworks licenses were granted to Archie Barker and Rasmus Jensen.

A communication was received from the superintendent of hacks, asking that the license of John Foster, hack driver, be revoked. He cited cases where Foster had charged more than the legal fare and had also given a fictitious name. It was voted to call Foster before the board this evening, to tell why his license should not be revoked.

Alderman Leddy reported that Keeper Sullivan of the Ann Street Pier is sick and unable to attend to his business and recommended the appointment of John Segerson to be keeper. He was appointed.

Alderman Hughes called attention to the fact that the contract for care of the ambulance expired June 30. He moved that the city clerk advertise for bids for the care of the ambulance, to be in by a week from Thursday. The board so voted.

Alderman Leddy brought up the Hansen woman's claims for damages and the mayor said she had no case against the city and everything had been explained to her by him and the police.

The mayor called attention to the

CITY OF BOSTON WILL SELL AT AUCTION TUG "CORMORANT"

Wednesday, July 16, at Noon

At Congress Street Bridge

The "Cormorant" was built for the City of Boston in 1892, at a cost of $25,000. The boat was very solidly constructed for towing purposes. Its dimensions are: Length, 93 feet; width, 20 feet; draft, 9½ feet; tonnage, 99; engine, compound condensing cylinders, 16 and 28 inches diameter; stroke, 20 inches; headroom under decks, over 6 feet. The "Cormorant" has been employed for the purpose of towing the scows used in connection with the disposal of refuse, but the operation of the new refuse disposal contract made its use unnecessary. Its sale is considered advisable, since it is not needed by any other department at the present time. The constant service of the boat has required it to be kept in a high state of efficiency, and the expenditure of a small amount should make it excellently qualified for commercial uses. The boat may be seen at Congress St. bridge.
